

MAJOR LESTER DIES; MINE WAR'S CLIMAX

Daily assassinations of strikebreakers, mine guards, and peace officers led Governor Ammons to declare martial law. A strong force under General Chase took possession of the field, disarmed the mine guards and strikers, and sought to arbitrate differences. The militia men were attacked from ambush, and otherwise, and several deaths resulted.

MILWAUKEE NOT AFFECTED BY LAKE SAILOR STRIKE OVER NINE HOUR LAW

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.) Milwaukee, Wis., April 30.—Milwaukee will not be affected by the strike threatened by employees of the Great Lakes Towing Co., according to boat men here. The Great Lakes company does not operate here and hence a strike would cause no trouble in this harbor. The greatest difficulty would be in moving boats in other ports. The controversy between the company and the Licensed Tugmen's Protective association is most keen in Buffalo. In order to comply with the law forbidding more than twelve hours work, the company has put double crews on the tug boats. The men objected to these provisions on the grounds that there was not sufficient room. Until an agreement is reached or a strike is called the Buffalo men cannot ship out. A strike would mean the tying-up of much business in this state with the grain and ore fleets just getting into commission.

FREIGHT CAR ROLLS DOWN EMBANKMENT NEAR BRIDGE

The wrecking derrick and crew on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad from Milwaukee this afternoon removed two freight cars from the right of way on the Mineral Point line, near the yard bridge on the outskirts of the city. Two cars jumped the track from a switching train early this morning. On the car ahead the bottom fell out, the chain holding the patented dumping apparatus breaking, which threw the car from the track down the embankment. The car behind was derailed, but stayed upright. The Janesville crew repaired what damage was done to the track this morning and showed the road for the right of way to allow the trains to pass.

SALESMANSHIP CLASS WILL HOLD A SECOND MEETING AT HIGH SCHOOL THIS EVENING.

The salesmanship class, organized Tuesday night of last week, will meet tonight in the high school building, under the leadership of Prof. Field, of the extension department, Wisconsin university. The class was supposed to have met on Tuesday evening of this week, but was postponed to allow many of the school club members, who took part in the minstrel show on that night, to enter the class. A second number is expected to be present this evening, as there are many opportunities to learn much valuable information on the subject of salesmanship. Prof. Field is a competent man, and knows the sales end of modern business enterprises perfectly. New members will be taken in tonight, so get busy salesmen and saleswomen and enroll.

THE PLACE OF HONEYMOONS

A Bright and Interesting Romance That Will Keep the Wits Working All the Time.

This is what the Nashville Tennessean says of the new serial we have secured, "The Place of Honeymoons," by Harold MacGrath:

Grand opera singers have frequently been utilized as the heroines of novels, but it is doubtful whether any author has ever conceived of a more delightful character than the one which Mr. MacGrath presents in this charming romance. It is the fortunes of such a singer, whose name is plain Irish Nora, that the author invites his readers to follow. Her abduction at the hands of a princely suitor who wishes to make her his morganatic wife, her belief that this abduction has been arranged by Courtlandt, the American hero, who happens to resemble the prince; her summer resting days at beautiful Lake Como, where her train of admirers follow; her relations with a delightful old father who has been a prize fighter, and her mother who intends to enter the "best circles" and vainly endeavors to veneer her honest, likable

HAROLD MAC GRATH,

Author of "The Place of Honeymoons."

husband into a society gentleman—these are a few of the things that furnish the incidents which form the stock of the story.

Romance, pure and simple, is the principal motive of the tale, but it is romance which is clothed in the element of mystery and which baffles the reader until the author sees fit to clear it up near the end. It is a mystery story then, which keeps the wits working all the time, but it is in no way concerned with crime or the pursuit of criminals. The characters are all interesting so that even the smallest things which they say and do, are worth following with attention.

Harold MacGrath has so firmly established himself in the regard of fiction lovers, that it is an accepted fact that any story from his pen will be interesting, entertaining and unusual, and "The Place of Honeymoons" is no exception to this rule. It is MacGrathian throughout, charming in setting, cosmopolitan in air and American in spirit. The author's unusually fruitful imagination has been given full chance to display itself, and his delightful gift of narration makes every paragraph original.

Late in March apparent quiet was restored and the militia was practically recalled.

U. S. Troops Arrive. The occupancy of Las Animas and Fremont counties by the United States troops, the continuation of negotiations between militia and strikers at Walsenburg for the surrender of arms, the taking of additional testimony at Trinidad of Governor B. B. Siz's inquiry in the Ludlow disaster, the Colorado industrial war today, Federal troops took possession of Fremont county, and the second squad of the 6th cavalry arrived in Trinidad in a frenching rain. The first act of Major Lester was to request the public to read the proclamation and to comply with the provisions by President Wilson. The parleys between Colonel Edward Verdeckberg and strike leaders at Walsenburg continued late afternoon. No information had been received at the official headquarters of the arms of strikers as proposed in the conference late yesterday.

WEATHER FORECAST.

HUERTA AND AFTERWARDS.

The Wall Street Journal is most pessimistic relative to the A. B. C. peace overtures. It says: "So far as it goes the news from Mexico is reassuring. It has even some encouraging features which have not been brought out. Of these the action of the South American republics is the chief. Had these republics not offered their friendly offices in mediation, the anti-United States press of Brazil, Argentina and Chile would have put us in the wrong, whatever we were forced to do in Mexico. If Huerta rejects their terms we shall at least have South American sentiment behind us, for the first time in our history."

This in itself is a great advance, and if war with Mexico is finally averted, this country stands to reap a probable harvest in return for some most haphazard sowing. But much still turns upon the attitude of the de facto president of Mexico. Mr. Huerta may make a preliminary condition of recognition by the United States, which cannot be admitted on any terms. The pressure brought upon him by European ministers as well as those of South America should give him pause. Whether it will do so or not remains to be seen.

But supposing that Mr. Huerta, with a self-sacrifice which would show more patriotism than has ever been disclosed by his constitutionalist opponents, should abdicate, in what way is the solution of the Mexican problem greatly nearer? There still remains Carranza, admittedly violently anti-American, and Villa, whose evidence of growing ability does not obliterate his record as the most blood-thirsty brigand who ever levied tribute on the American and other foreign residents of Mexico. If Huerta abdicates, the situation will be, in its relation to a final solution, not greatly different from what it was before the occupation of Veracruz. Our objective, plainly is a responsible government in Mexico, such as existed under Diaz. With the assistance of the representatives of foreign powers we are getting Americans out of Mexico. What prospect is there of such a restoration of order as will allow us to send them back again, to attend to their legitimate business, with security to life and property?

Here then is the Mexican problem, still unsolved in permanence and principle. It is in the last degree doubtful if we can withdraw until a permanent and responsible government is established, and this seems more likely to involve a broad military occupation than not.

THE WATER WORKS.

While the Gazette does not think that it is advisable for the city to own the Janesville Water Company's plant, that the three hundred thousand dollars' worth of bonds that would have to be issued to pay for it, would be an additional burden on the tax payer, still it is up to the voters to decide the question. That the matter may be given a free discussion the columns of the paper are open for articles on the subject. Many advocates of the purchase of the plant would doubtless be glad of an opportunity to state their views on the question. All communications, however, must be signed with the writer's name, not a fictitious one, and must be delivered at the Gazette office the day previous to publication. It is suggested that they are not more than a half column in length and are of course subject to acceptance by the editor before publication. Let the discussion be as explicit as possible, so that the question can be thoroughly threshed out before the vote is taken.

Letters from Janesville residents in the east at the present time report that there is the greatest anxiety expressed over the outcome of the trouble between Mexico and the United States, particularly in the money centers. The real effects of the tariff are also being felt at present and there is a general trade depression that does not speak well for what the democrats hoped would be a prosperous administration. General opinion freely expressed is that Mr. Wilson and Bryan have sadly muddled the present situation and that complications have arisen that demonstrate clearly the mistakes they have made and are making. War news is most eagerly sought and is the main topic of conversation.

CLEAN UP.

Start tomorrow morning and clean great clean up campaign and by Sunday the city should be spick and span. Tomorrow is a half holiday in the schools, and Saturday a full holiday, so the youthful band of workers will be at it early, and late and the results will be surprising.

MAY DAY.
"You must wake and call me early, call me early mother dear; Tomorrow'll be the happiest time of all the glad New Year. Of all the glad new year, mother, the maddest, merriest day; For I'm to be Queen o' the May, mother I'm to be queen o' the May."
—Tennyson, The May Queen.

Tomorrow, designated as Arbor Day, Bird Day, and is also May Day. It was formerly the custom to hang May baskets on front doors, to hold May dances around the May poles and otherwise, celebrate this glad-some period. While officially, spring has arrived some weeks ago, still one always associates May with spring and May flowers are the daintiest, sweetest blossoms to be found. Today the day is designated as a holiday to the out-of-door life, to the planting of trees, to the bird life. It is fitting that these old customs should be observed in the present day form and the work being done in our public schools in this direction cannot be over estimated.

Despite all this talk of financial depression, two electric interurbans are considering, only considering, building a line from Janesville to Madison. It goes back in the memory of man that the first discussion of this project was some twelve or thirteen years ago and still the road is not yet built.

Janesville has the opportunity at the present time of securing one of the best commercial manufacturing institutions that has ever been offered to its citizens for consideration. It means a big thing for the city if it can be handled and it is up to the men who want to see Janesville grow to aid in the good cause.

Recently the police made a start toward cleaning up the city of its undesirable element. It was a brave showing and presaged good results. A few first class convicts would aid the cause materially.

It has been suggested that perhaps the Janesville Traction Company might dispose of its present barracks, called street cars by courtesy, to the Mexican government as an additional means of torture to their prisoners by making them ride in them.

It does not seem right that Janesville should be left out of all this war talk, simply because it has no military organization here. Why not organize a "Home Guard," if nothing else?

On The Spur of The Moment

Thanks.
You have our thanks, O congressman, The garden seeds are here. The selfsame kind that we've received.
In many a by-gone year. They are well mixed, as usual. The radish, turnip, squash, The rutabaga, parsnips and The pumpkins, too, b'cosp.
In years gone by we've used these seeds. And made a garden plot, And spaded, raked and dragged and hoed. And spent our time a lot.
We've bought the finest garden tools, And we've done what we could, But never raised a doggone thing, Then free seeds want no good.
There is a man whom we don't like, He'll get our seeds, you bet; We'll let him hoe and spade and rake And swear and cuss and fret.

How Time Flies.

"I can't stay long, fellows. I told my wife I'd be home by 9 o'clock." "Me too, Steve. I gotta sluff this game at 9 sharp. Shake up the pasteboards, Bill." "I'm just like you two fellows. It was hard enough to get away as it was and I gotta hit the feathers before 10 o'clock or it's home to mother for my wife. Gee, this is a punk hand. Two bits." "Aw, stick around awhile. You three fellows make me weary. Every time I'm host you all gotta duck before I win enough to pay for the lights." 10 P. M.
"This is positively the last hand for me, Rupert. My wife'll kill me. Gee, ain't there anything in that deck but catpaws and bobtailed flushes. I'd faint away if I ever drew a pair of Democrats." "I'm going home too, after this hand. I kin just see my wife now, settin' up fer me. For the love of Mike shake up them cards. I ain't had as good as a pair of Johns since I got here." "I gotta duck in ten minutes, so if you fellows want any of my dough you gotta bet 'em up. I'll crack her for 10s."

"I'm going to invite a different bunch next time. You all start to talk about goin' home as soon as you sit your hats off. If I ever get married, Gee! Welcome little strangers! What do you think of three K boys. I'll boost that pot two bits. You better all stay out if you ain't got anything." "Ho-hum. What'll my wife say? Deal 'em Steve, and if you ever want to borrow my lawnmower again you gotta come across with openers." "It is too late for me to go home now. I'm called suddenly out of town, understand. My wife'll strangle me, but I got to get back what I've anted in here. Oh, Judas Iscariot, are you pickin' my cards out with tweezers?" "I'm goin' home after five more hands. My wife's probably packin' up to go home to mother right now. What's this, three bell-hops and a pair of stenographers? Well, what do you think of that?" "Ain't you rabbits ever going home? I can't afford to sit here and lose every hand and pay for the lights, too. And I'll tell you, the next time you come here you'll bring your own cigars. If I don't get a hand this time, I'm goin' to turn out the lights."

If this information is refused don't buy it. Some of the low grade baking powders are advertised, but the ingredients of the powders are scrupulously concealed.

A housekeeper would not use a baking powder containing alum if she knew it.

It is well when buying to examine the label on the can. Unless it shows the ingredient cream of tartar, don't buy it. Dr. Price's baking powder is absolutely free from alum.

"Stop throwin' them cigar butts on the floor. This ain't no saloon."

Uncle Abner.
One of the most embarrassing things in the world is to have a feller strike you for tea just as you were about to strike him for tea. They have heavier-than-air machines and lighter-than-air machines, but every day or two something happens to prove that all of the aviators are heavier than air. There are other ways for a young feller to acquire bona fide sense beside spending his time hangin' around the village livery stable. Elmer Jones gave the milliner a solid ivory manicure set and the milliner said it would remind her of Elmer every time she looked at it. Aliss Pansy Tibbitts of our town was engaged to a feller with a broken leg, but he broke it off. There ain't nobody so bitter agin mustaches as the feller who can't raise one.

For Burned Hands.
For the burns, more or less severe, that happen so frequently in the kitchen, it is well to keep on hand there a bottle filled with equal parts of linseed oil and lime water. Shake the bottle well before application, and keep the burned parts from the air by covering with lint or soft linen.

Dependables:

That's a coined word—not in the dictionary. Yet its meaning is plain enough when applied to The Big Store. This store is dependable — the Big Store name on an article of merchandise means that we have done all that is humanly possible to insure its high character, its appropriateness for the use for which it is intended, its reliability. If it fails after all—and where human hands and brains are concerned there is bound to be an occasional falling short of the desired end—we count it a privilege to make it right, prompt and without question.

EAGLES HELD TENTH ANNIVERSARY LAST EVENING AND DANCE

More Than Two Hundred Couples Attended Commemorative Program, Followed by Pretty Dancing Party.

The tenth anniversary of the organization of the Janesville Aerle,
No. 724, Fraternal Order of Eagles, held last evening at the Eagles Hall,
followed by a pretty dancing party, in the Spanish Wagon hall, which will go down in history as being one of the best commemorative events ever held in this city.

At eight-thirty, President Louis An-ger's gavel was sounded and the meeting opened with a very nearly 225 couples present. Mr. Anger made a few opening remarks, announcing the purpose of holding the event, and when he closed his remarks, the music was called upon to sing, which they did very satisfactorily.

The first speaker of the evening was the past worthy president, John C. Nichols, state secretary of the Eagles. His address was very interesting and contained much victor. He explained what the benefits of the organization are, and reviewed the accomplishments of the order during the past ten years. The amounts paid out for sick and death benefits and for the free doctor, were given in the form of a report.
The amounts also given in charitable contributions were read after which Mr. Nichols closed his speech, touching upon the present financial condition of the Eagles in the state. Over one and a half million dollars was reported to be in surplus at the present time, after having expended about one million dollars.

The next speaker of the evening was J. J. Cunningham. His main contribution was to deal with the objects of the organization, and to show to all present, that the order was one standing for good fellowship and moral uplift.

Mr. J. J. Love, Jr., was called upon for a few words, and he responded on how the aerle stands at the present time. Following his talk, the quartet favored the audience with another selection.

George Hatch, who was present with his orchestra of five pieces to furnish the inspiration for dancing, was asked to sing a solo with harp accompaniment. He was forced to sing again, both selections being thoroughly enjoyed by the listeners.

T. F. McKelvey was voluntarily called upon for a song. Rather surprised, but determined to obey orders, Mr. McKelvey sang a selection, and as the result was encored three times. He had to render four songs to satisfy each and everyone.

Following his selection, the crowd numbering about a hundred, advanced to the Spanish Wagon hall where dancing was indulged in until eleven-thirty. The crowd returned to the Eagles hall and there partook of a buffet luncheon, which had been thoroughly prepared for them by the committee in charge. Fifty tables were placed about the room, and it was twelve-thirty before everyone was served. The quartet favored with selections during the refreshment.

Dancing was again enjoyed until two o'clock, when "Home, Sweet Home" was played, notifying all present that the occasion was drawing to a close. The evening was successful, and most pleasing to all that attended.

March, the 15th, was the right day for the anniversary, but owing to bad weather, it was observed a postponement was made to allow dancing to take place.

OVER ONE HUNDRED
AT ANNUAL BANQUET

Rev. W. A. Rowell of Beloit Gives Address at Congregational Brotherhood Banquet.

Last night over one hundred members and their guests were present at the annual ladies' night banquet of the Congregational Brotherhood held at the church. W. O. Newhouse was leader during the banquet and the banquet was declared an enjoyable success.

The principal address was given by Rev. W. A. Rowell of Beloit on "The World at Play." The address proved most interesting to the speaker relating the diversions of people in Europe through personal observation. At periods the Rev. Rowell caused much merriment among those members relating humorous stories and illustrations of his remarks. Mrs. Marion Woodberry of New York spoke on "Immigration Problems." Fred S.
Sheldon and Rev. Kidder also gave interesting addresses.

During the banquet and during the program an orchestra from the school for the blind rendered delightful music. Miss Alice Thomas and Mrs. C.
L. Mohr sang excellent selections.
Officers of the brotherhood were re-elected. During the evening a committee was named for the benevolent work.

CLEVELAND CHANGES FROM CENTRAL TO EASTERN TIME

Cleveland, April 30.—Amid blasts of factory whistles and city-wide celebration, Cleveland at midnight tonight will turn her watches and clocks forward one hour, signaling the change from central to eastern time. A score of other cities in northern Ohio also will make the change.

Instead of going to work at seven o'clock tomorrow morning, thousands of workers will really answer factory whistles at 6 a. m. (central time) and will cease at 4 p. m. The primary purpose of the change, brought about by Cleveland city officials, is to give men an additional hour of daylight.

Some confusion is expected in the announcement of railroads that temporarily at least, schedules will continue to operate on central time.
Thus a traveler may arise at 7, prepare his toilet, eat breakfast and take the 7 o'clock train with plenty of time to spare. Others, unfamiliar with the change, may arrive at an early hour at the railroad station and be forced to wait. A few adjacent cities will not adopt the change with Cleveland.
Railroad trains destined to these cities will in this case make the run in less than nothing so to speak—from a standpoint of eastern time.

Mayor Newton D. Baker issued a proclamation several days ago, calling on every citizen to observe the formal change by setting forward the clocks, and take part, if possible, in the general celebration.

GIVE DINNER PARTY

Court House Force Entertains In Elaborate Style for Co-Worker
Who Will Be Wedded Soon.

Members of the court house force entertained at a six o'clock dinner last evening at the county clerk's office in honor of Deputy County Clerk
Miss Mabel C. Lee and her fiancé, H.
B. Moseley of the town of Beloit, who are to be married in June. The party was arranged by the young ladies employed at the court house offices and was a most brilliant and delightful affair. Wives of the county officers were included in the festivities and covers were laid for thirty guests.

The table decorations were especially beautiful, consisting of large baskets of red Richmond roses with a special bouquet of tulips and rose-hips for the bride-to-be. The roses were also presented to Miss Lee at the close of the evening. Dainty place cards, each bearing an inscription appropriate to the occasion, were the work of Register in Probate Oscar Nelson. The reading of the sentiments, which was required, of each guest, caused much merriment.

Judge C. L. Field presided at the dinner and in behalf of the court house force, presented Miss Lee with a half dozen sterling silver spoons which match in pattern the teaspoons and dessert spoons which were given to her by the county clerk's office and just before five

STORY OF AN IDEA

HOW THE "CLEAN UP AND PAINT UP" IDEA DEVELOPED INTO A NATIONAL MOVEMENT.

CAMPAIGNS IN 1,000 CITIES

Success Due to General Verdict That Plan is Most Practical and Comprehensive for Permanent Results and Waking of Civic Consciousness.

By Oliver Burkhardt.
A ST. LOUIS editor got an unusual idea, that is, a new idea, into his head several years ago, and after repeatedly failing to get somebody or some organization to "try it on the public" he undertook the task himself.
The result is the "Clean Up and Paint Up" movement that today causes the annual turning over and inside out and general refurbishing up of thousands of cities and towns from Bangor to Fresno.
The idea that would not down was the conviction of Allen W. Clark that the "spring cleaning" spirit that stirs in the breasts of most men and women, especially the women, and that often manifests itself collectively in community efforts to "clean-up" ought to be "organized" into constructive form for permanent results, instead of being frittered away in the crude, haphazard "clean-up week" or, worse yet, the "clean-up day" that Clark classes with the proverbial "annual bath."

Accordingly, the editor with an idea announced, in June, 1912, that the national "Clean Up and Paint Up" campaign would "start" the next spring. It started.

Civic Leaders Respond.
Confident in his convictions, Mr. Clark broached his plans, including the name or slogan desired, to a number of national leaders in the circles of "organized altruism" and requested their counsel and their active identification with the movement. This response was typical of the expression of all:

Edward T. Hartman, Secretary Massachusetts Civic League, wrote: "I am greatly interested in the idea suggested in your expression that this clean-up and paint-up campaign is to be pushed by two arguments, viz: that it is good citizenship and good business, for I believe that this states the only substantial basis upon which we may properly develop either citizenry or business. The business which aims to accomplish its purpose by ignoring and even destroying good citizenship is short lived, and is fatal not only to itself, but to the community in general. You are in a peculiarly advantageous position to aid in the conservation and improvement of the community in general. For paint is a direct means to the conservation of houses, along the streets, and of many other things which we are going to have to conserve if we are not to permit ourselves to go to pieces as a nation. We cannot continue the present wasteful processes much longer."

Fortwith the National "Clean Up and Paint Up" Campaign Bureau was established in St. Louis, with Mr. Clark as chairman—"and that's about all of the story," he said, "for after that the rest was easy. Just good, honest hard work in trying to satisfy the demands of business and civic and women's clubs and editors, yes, and preachers, for campaign plans and literature to help spread the gospel of cleanliness, thrift and civic pride—the three graces of the paint gospel," he called them.

Since then the movement has been a triumphal march. Thousands of leading newspapers and the heads of various national bodies leading in the civic uplift, espoused the crusade as the most practical and comprehensive plan yet proposed to arouse civic consciousness and to give it sane, satisfactory, constructive direction.

Press Renders Invaluable Aid.

No review of the phenomenal growth and broad recognition of the "Clean Up and Paint Up" campaign, recognition which actually stuns the few mortals who shoulder the task of feeding fuel into the fire of a nation-consuming movement, would be complete without acknowledgment of the invaluable service rendered by the daily and weekly press of the more than 1,000 cities in which campaigns are now being organized. In many of these cities the newspaper editors and publishers are doing the bulk of the work.

Activity in New England.

A notable expression of the idea is found in New England, where an affliating organization, the New England "Clean Up and Paint Up" Committee (P. O. Box 1215, Boston) was organized early this year, with a vice-chairman in each New England State.

The Missouri Federation of Commercial Clubs, in annual convention, passed the following resolution endorsing the "Clean Up and Paint Up" campaign, March 11, of this year:

"Whereas, we recognize the national 'Clean Up and Paint Up' Campaign as an immediate and practical and comprehensive means to arouse civic consciousness among all the people of a community, and to give same, satisfactory and constructive direction to that spirit.
"Be it resolved, that we congratulate its promoters on the adoption of this original Missouri idea in the more than a thousand cities and towns of the nation that are conducting local campaigns, and the plans of the national 'Clean Up and Paint Up' Campaign Bureau, with headquarters in St. Louis, Mo., and that we urge the organization of these campaigns in every city and town in Missouri under the auspices of the commercial clubs of such cities."

"Be it further resolved, That a special committee of five be appointed by the president of the Federation of Missouri Commercial Clubs to confer with Chairman Allen W. Clark, of said national bureau, on the feasibility of a general campaign of this character throughout Missouri, and especially where no local organization exists."

Clean Up and Paint Up

SPRINGTIME, despite the thermometer's recent evidence, is really here.

Even the abject stir about their wretched premises, plant morning glories and such simple flowers in their tiny spaces of ground, straighten up the leaning pickets left from the kindling needs of the later frosty mornings. Good housewives tie towels about their heads, gird up their narrow skirts and chase the dust of winter from their rooms. The laziest pick and trifle with their belongings to fix themselves better to face the changing seasons.

"Clean-up!" is the phrase. "Why not enlarge it? Why not 'paint up'?"

And if "paint up" why not do it so it will LAST and PAY?

Painting is another "art preservative." Rightly done, it saves repair, adds to length of property-life, increases property-attractiveness, brings to the tenant's lips the pleased smile, to the righteous landlord the wholesome feeling of duty well performed.

Between ourselves, there's room for lots on lots of paint here in Outtown. Well applied, in colors judiciously selected, it would conceal a multitude of architectural and sanitary sins from the discerning eyes of tourists passing this way.

Look over your OWN house, or home, or business structure.

A Youthful Figure for You

It is a very simple matter if the form from day to day is properly cared for through the corset. The grandame with the beautiful figure will "look the part" as long as she chooses if her form is shaped and controlled by the proper corset, so that the muscles of the bust may not drop or the flesh grow flabby.

Bones and muscles must not be tampered with in corset design. It is the flesh that is modeled in the corset shape, and from season to season the woman, as she grows to the grandame age, can wear the most youthful fashions if her corset is correct. And your corset will be correct if you let us fit you with one of the new models of

MINUTE WISE AND HOUR FOOLISH.
 IS THE child which is taught to help himself any happier than a child who is taught to help himself?
 Certainly not.

Is he any better off?
 A thousand times, no.
 If the balance of benefit and happiness tips either way it is certainly toward the child who is taught to help himself and others.

And yet we all know many mothers who wait upon their children or pay others to wait upon them, as if the children were physically helpless or feeble minded.

Why do they do it?
 Partially, I think, because they foolishly and mistakenly believe that they are making the child happier. And partly because they are too shortsighted and impatient to make the extra effort required to start the child in habits of self help. It is easier to button a child's shoes than to show him how. But it is the kind of easier that always brings a harder later on.

The other day I saw a young mother push away the child's fingers which were struggling to button his coat, and heard her say impatiently, "Here, let me do it. We'll never get out of here if I wait for you."

In so discouraging his effort to help himself she saved a moment for that day, and lost I know not how many moments for the future. So she showed herself minute wise and hour foolish.

As soon as children begin to think and to play they can learn to help themselves.

The Montessori method has taught us that we can make the buttoning of a shoe and the untying of a knot as much of a diversion to a child as playing with his toys or tearing off the wall paper.

A child is a storehouse of pent-up energy. A great deal of so-called naughtiness is merely this energy working itself off in inconvenient ways. What Jacob A. Riis said about half grown boys is true in some degree of all children. "Every American boy is a little steam boiler with the steam always up. Sit on the safety valve and bang goes the boiler."

Begin early to turn some of your children's energy in useful directions and you will be surprised at what you will accomplish.

For instance, I know of a mother whose three year old boy puts himself to bed. She helps him undress downstairs, then she kisses him good-night and he climbs the two flights of stairs to his bedroom and gets into bed. When he is safely in bed he calls good-night, and she switches off the light at the foot of the second flight of stairs by which he has found his way.

Again I know a little two year old who loves to take off her garters, rubbers, etc., when she comes in from her walk, and put them all in their right places.

The mother who trains the child to be helpful and orderly benefits him in many ways; and not the least is that she conserves her own energy and is thereby able to be a better mother to him all her life.

Cook until the potatoes are thoroughly done. The whole process will take three-quarters of an hour. It is quite a task to brown the flour evenly and sufficiently, but not difficult if a thick bottomed frying pan is used and the flour stirred constantly. Adding cold water to the flour and butter insures lack of lumps in the soup. Neither this nor any brown gravy need be lumpy if made with a cold liquid. This is an inexpensive soup, pleasantly thick.

Split Pea Soup.—One cup of dried split peas, two and one-half quarts of cold water, one pint of milk, one-half onion, three tablespoons of butter, two tablespoons of flour, one and one-half teaspoonful of salt, one-eighth teaspoonful of pepper, two-inch cube of fat salt pork. Pick, drain, add the cold water, pork and the onion. Simmer three or four hours, or until soft; rub through a sieve. Add the butter and the flour cooked together, salt, and pepper. Thicken with the milk, adding more if necessary. The water in which a ham has been cooked may be used, in such a case omit the salt.

Egg a la Livingstone.—Four eggs, one-half cup of stewed and strained tomatoes, one-half teaspoonful of paprika, two tablespoons of butter, one-half cup of finely chopped vegetables. Beat the eggs slightly, and add the tomatoes, salt and the paprika. Melt the butter in an omelet pan, add the seasoned eggs, and cook same as scrambled eggs. Spread slices of toasted bread with plate of foie gras. Pour over the eggs, and sprinkle with truffles.

LET NOTHING BE LOST.

In the miracle which is recorded in the Gospels, the fact that after the feast there were gathered up 12 basketsful, and they were told to do this that nothing be lost, is a lesson for us in economy. Even the Creator of all things in his wonderful providence to us expects us to use our blessings with care against needless waste.

Many people fall in economy because they do not know how to save, and, of course, there are those who are "penny wise and pound foolish."

Food is not the only article of importance in the great make-up of things.

Energy, good temper, good looks and the joy of living should not be wasted by trifling things which seem, but are not at all important.

Stinginess is degrading, and waste is sin; a wise oversight of expenditure of self, time and money is an honorable and just employment for every woman.

The Waste of Food.—A stock pot for soups is a wonderful saver and will prove a great help in planning the day's menu. The water in which rice or macaroni and any bits of leftover meat and bones can be cooked together until a jelly is formed. The inch or two of steak, the half cup of peas, the tablespoonful or two of string beans, in fact almost any kind of food may go into the soup pot with good results. At night strain the soup into a bowl and set on ice; in the morning skim off the fat, which should be saved for the various cooked dishes, and you will then have a foundation for various kinds of soups.

Bits of butter left on the plates or from the butter balls which look messy can be saved for the various needs in cooking.

Scraps of pastry, if kept on ice, may be rolled out, cut in squares, sprinkled with cinnamon and sugar and baked, and will make a nice little cake to serve with a light dessert. Or if cut very small without putting on any sugar or cinnamon, and when baked brown may be used as croutons in soup.

Take stale bread and cut into small squares or fancy shapes, and put into a jar to keep from the air. When croutons are wanted for soup, dip them in melted butter and brown in the oven. They thus make most attractive croutons.

Heart and Home Problems

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) Please give me a recipe for fruit salad. Also for potato salad with mayonnaise dressing.

(2) I am 27 years of age, have gone with different fellows, not liking any of them. I met a fellow not long ago, and I love him better than any of the rest of the fellows. I would give anything if I could go with him. How can I tell him that I would like to keep company with him, as he is a respectable boy.

MORNING GLORY. (1) Fruit Salad—Cutting orange, pine apple and bananas in small pieces and mixing. Can add a little cut celery, cherries or other desired fruit. Serve on lettuce leaf with mayonnaise dressing.

(2) Potato Salad—Dice six large cold boiled potatoes. Cut one onion in small pieces. Four thin slices bacon. Mix with mayonnaise. Let stand in refrigerator until cold. Garnish with hard-boiled egg.

Mayonnaise (boiled)—Yolks four eggs, one-half cup cream or milk, one-half cup sugar, salt and pepper to taste. Add a little bit of dry mustard, a pinch of cayenne pepper and boil. Then add three-quarters pint good vinegar and lump of butter size of egg. Thin with whipped cream when serving. Will keep a week in cool place.

(3) You can't tell him, my dear, and keep his respect. All advances must come from him, otherwise he will think you are cheap and will not care for you in the right way. Just be nice and pleasant and good to look at, and he may sit up and take notice.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: "Will you please give me a recipe for goulash. Thank you. A FRIEND."

Hungarian Goulash—Select two pounds beef from a cut that has some fat. Cut meat into pieces about three inches square and wash well, but do not wipe.

Put good sized piece of meat in saucepan and let it fry cut good, do not burn. When rendered, remove scraps and put meat (still dripping with water) into hot fat. Be careful the fat doesn't splutter and burn you. Add no more water under any circumstances and let meat cook slowly an hour. At the end of half an hour slice into meat a medium sized onion; in another half hour add a can of tomatoes and twenty minutes longer. Season with salt and paprika and a little powdered clove if you like it.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) Will you please tell me what to trim a black crepe de chine dress with for a girl of sixteen with light hair?

(2) Are baby doll pumps going to be worn this summer?

(3) What will take hair from the face?

(4) Are ice cream and cake nice to serve at a birthday party?

GREEN EYES. (1) This would be pretty with a little blue silk vest and a sash of the silk. The sleeves could be banded with the silk, or sleeves and neck could be edged with narrow lace. The skirt drapery could be held with buttons or rosettes of the blue silk.

(2) I am afraid these have gone out. Everything is called "Tango" now.

(3) Nothing but the electric needle, and even then that fails sometimes. Peroxide will bleach the hair, so it will not show so much, but it also is harmful to the skin.

(4) Very nice.

Hoosier "White Beauty" advertised in leading magazines.

It Cannot Take You 10 Minutes to Decide Whether You Prefer "White Beauty" or a HOOSIER with "Oak" Inside—Delivered to Your Home for only $1.

It is necessary now that you make your decision quickly if you are to secure your Hoosier on the attractive HOOSIER PLAN, for there are only a few of each left on our floor.

This Opportunity Will End When the Last of this Allotment of Hoosiers is taken—Possibly TOMORROW.

Before you hesitate longer, therefore, ask yourself these three questions:

- (1) How can I possibly benefit by not getting a Hoosier now on the Hoosier Plan?
- (2) Can I not better afford to pay one dollar now than the entire cash price all at once later?
- (3) Shall I risk being too late, merely through failure to act now? Or shall I go down the store tomorrow and make my decision then, knowing that the sale may close by night?

Consider the Advantages that the new Hoosier presents—40 tested features of convenience, 17 of which are entirely new—three spacious cupboards and a handy package pantry, grouped around a large sanitary metal table that slides out 18 inches so you can sit down and work—capacity for 400 articles which are so scientifically located at your fingers' ends that even unnecessary reaching has been eliminated—and construction so sound that the cabinet lasts a lifetime without warping or any necessity of repairs.

The Saving of Weary Miles of Steps in the kitchen, alone, makes the new Hoosier of vital importance to every tired woman who hopes to retain her health, happiness and good looks; for kitchen work done in the old way is drudgery, and drudgery sooner or later causes serious ills. The convenience and pleasure of working with a Hoosier are great but insignificant advantages compared to the "health side" of the question. Particularly if you are one of the millions of women who never feel perfectly well, and don't know why, you need a Hoosier more than anything else you can buy.

See "White Beauty" in Our Window—It Will Sell Itself to You. And Here is the Easy-Hoosier Plan on which You can Buy it Tomorrow.

1. $1 puts the cabinet you choose in your home.
2. $1 weekly quickly pays for it.
3. The Low Cash Price fixed by the factory prevails strictly.
4. No interest. No extra fees.
5. This sale is under the direct supervision of the Hoosier Company.
6. Your money back if you are not delighted with your Hoosier.

Could any possible further advantage be held out to induce you to act tomorrow in your own interest? We know of none, and we count confidently on your coming tomorrow—before it is too late.

This club is limited to 25 persons, and positively will not be continued after this week. Many Ladies have already been enrolled. Do not delay as only two club days and a few cabinets remain.

A factory representative will be pleased to explain the cabinet to you tomorrow or Saturday.

Women Worth While

MRS. O. H. P. BELMONT.

By Selma Armstrong Harmon. While many brilliant and prominent women in the country are championing the cause of equal suffrage, Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont is perhaps best known for the qualities of leadership she has displayed in the American "Votes-for-women" movement. A few days ago she sprang, like a modern Minerva, fully armed, into the contest and her wonderful vitality as well as her tireless enthusiasm have made her work for the cause contribute greatly to the prominence of the suffrage question in the United States.

Mrs. Belmont is a southern woman by birth and tradition, her parents having been of old southern stock. As Alva B. Smith she was a great belle in her town and state. Her birthplace was Mobile, but her education was obtained in the schools of France. Mrs. Belmont's first marriage was to William K. Vanderbilt. Her daughter by this marriage now wears the fondest title in the English peerage. She is Consuelo, Duchess of Marlborough, and a leading figure in London society.

Mrs. Belmont's position as a leader in the suffrage movement of New York and Newport has not prevented her usefulness in other lines of activity. Besides her work for the suffrage cause she has won world-wide fame as a worker in philanthropy.

When Mrs. Belmont talks it is with what a joy would call "punch." Every word tells and her manner is out of earnest and business-like. There is nothing of the southern drawl in her manner of speech and in her vocabulary a spade is a spade.

"Why do I become interested in the suffrage question?" she asked. "Because I was interested in bettering the conditions of the working woman. I have personally seen the disadvantage under which women labor in the business world, and I found the only remedy was the vote. This was powerfully shown in the great strike of shirtwaist workers in New York, when they presented their petition to Mayor McClellan. What was his reply? "You have no vote. This was given as a reason why nothing would be done to help them."

"The condition of the married woman of the working class is little better than slavery. A wife should receive a half of her husband's salary. She spends her time working at his home over his children, and she ought to have a right to half of what he earns."

"But for the most working women singleness is better than marriage under present conditions, for in France, where the first rank of women, but this was from motives of selfish interest—they wished to keep the power amongst themselves. I think the ministry a beautiful field in which woman can labor."

"I have no doubt but that suffrage will be granted in New York in 1915. There is no reason we should not have women in the house and in the senate. One effect of suffrage will be the bettering of children's work. With women and children in the business world, it is important that woman should have a power to form the laws which govern that world. And it is but a question of short time before she will be a full-fledged enfranchised citizen."

Household Hint

THINGS WORTH KNOWING.
 If sauces are rolled in flour before fried, it will prevent them from breaking and also improve the flavor.

To remove dingy towels to whiteness put them in a boiler of cold water and white soap shavings and lemon juice and let them come to a boil. Rinse in tepid water, then in blue water. Hang in the sun to dry.

To give better flavor to canned fruit, lemons to stewed, add lemon juice in the proportion of the juice of one lemon to one pound of fruit.

To prevent sliced fruit for dessert, Oh fruit salad, turning dark sprinkle lemon juice over it.

To drive a nail through a plaster wall without injury to the wall, dip in hot water first. This will prevent it from breaking away the wall.

THE TABLE.
 Brown Potato Soup—Heat one tablespoonful of butter and brown carefully in it three tablespoonfuls of sifted flour. Then add one and a half quarts of cold water, a good teaspoonful of salt and two medium sized potatoes peeled and sliced thin.

FIGHT TO DISLODGE LANDED ARISTOCRACY

AUTHOR SAYS LAND DEFRAUD-ED PEONS HAVE BROUGHT MEXICAN UPHEAVAL.

DESCRIBES EVICTIONS

Tells of Wholesale Slaughter and Terrible Cruelty Employed to Rob Rurales of Their Farms.

Land Hunger—the struggle of enslaved peons to supplant a landed aristocracy with an agrarian democracy—lies under and interwoven through the problem of Mexico. From a Socialist point of view the causes of Mexico's internal strife are set out clearly and more or less entertainingly in "The Mexican People: Their Struggle for Freedom."

L. Gutierrez de Lara, Socialist lawyer and author who lived in exile in the United States before the Mexican revolution, wrote the book in collaboration with Edgum Pinchon. It is frankly biased—a statement of the rebel cause from the extreme radical viewpoint.

Prey of Foreign Exploiters. "We know that to the average mind Mexico and freedom seem almost antithetical terms; that is why we wrote this book," say the authors in preface. "The Mexican people have been the prey of foreign exploiters, but unlike the majority of peoples, their weakness has made of them the peculiar prey of the foreign exploiters as well."

Beginning with the blow for independence from Spain, the authors trace the successive struggles in Mexico of the natives who still are fighting for possession of the soil. Their picture of Porfirio Diaz and of his rise and rule as the creature of foreign capitalism leaves the old "Maker of Mexico" stripped of nearly all the honors the outside world had associated with him.

"As a result of these vast land despoliations, the valley of Papantla, which once supported a population of 200,000 independent farmers, today belongs to one rich family. The entire state of Chihuahua belongs to three families, headed by a man who is reputed the largest single cattle owner in the state. In the state of Morelos—from which in recent times have sprung the gallant Zapata and his followers—four men, one of them the son-in-law of Diaz, own every inch of agricultural land, and 200,000 of the farmers—now and husband, returned to their home at Hancock, Wisconsin, Saturday.

Miss Sofia Cramer, who has been visiting several months with her sister, returned to her home at Hancock, Wisconsin, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Jay Crippens are the happy parents of a baby girl, born Saturday, April 25.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Crunk of Madison spent Saturday with D. T. Dunwiddie and family.

pose of rurales. Again the people protested, but this time they were silenced by force, and in the clash that ensued several lives were lost on both sides.

Wholesale Slaughter of Farmers. "Four days later a force consisting of several thousand rurales and a division of the army entered the valley and began the systematic extermination of the population. How many were killed was never known. About ten years ago in the course of our investigation we visited this valley and endeavored to elicit some details of the affair from the people. Neither man, woman nor child could be induced to say a word, because already a number of them had met death, banishment, imprisonment and flogging for even speaking of it."

In spite of this dumbness of the people, however, we obtained independent proof that for fifteen days the slaughter never ceased, that not a man escaped alive, that only a remnant of women and children were spared, and that the work of burying the dead was so great that a month later the air for miles around the valley was unbearable owing to the stench of the thousands of putrefying corpses. Today this whole region, which once 20,000 peaceable, industrious folk occupied a prosperous living from the soil, belongs to a single rich family."

Failure of Madero. For repossession of the soil, Senor de Lara declares, Mexico will still fight on. Land hunger was at the bottom of the Madero revolution. Madero he characterizes as an "academic politician," and "certainly not the man to guide the mighty forces of the revolution of 1911. Francisco Madero, in short, was that most unhappy of all types of politicians—the bourgeois idealist, subsequent events proved him to be an opportunist, as well as a man of no principle. Almost without effort, the cause of the people at the moment of their impassioned revolt, not from conviction but as an alluring political expedient. Almost without effort, however, he was lifted into power by the might of the people, as a straw is lifted by a wave. A constitutional president under false pretenses, his whole subsequent career was a denial of the popular cause."

PRICE NO CONSIDERATION IN ADVERTISING

NO merchant who ever gave advertising a fair chance to make good never said that an advertisement must contain cut prices in order to bring results. Of course cut prices will always bring the crowds and there are some stores that have no other redeeming feature. But the average dealer who has given study to the magical powers of advertising, is too wise to insult the intelligence of his patrons by suggesting that they do not desire the best quality of any article or that the public is not willing to pay what quality is worth.

There are many stores in Janesville securing phenomenal results from Gazette advertising by means of quality talk alone. From the largest to the smallest the verdict is the same. Tell the people what you have and why they should buy of you and the results are bound to come.

Every store has some one thing in its favor or it could not exist. One may have quality, one may have low price, one may have something exclusive, one may have the largest stock and still another may offer service which after all is quite important for every growing store to offer. Study your store. Study your advantages. Then get the Gazette's Service Department to help you map out a campaign or system and go to it. The service is free.

It would require pages to itemize instances of results. One needs only glance over this paper. If your copy is properly prepared you can sell what you have, no matter whether you use display, locals or classified.

One of the many instances where the Gazette's Service Department demonstrated the truth of the above statements was a small merchant who had never advertised before because he thought it was an unnecessary expense. He was induced to try a short contract and turn the copy writing over to the Gazette. From time to time he reported increasing sales but when his contract was up he was still unwilling to give the advertising credit for the increase. He remained out of the paper for two months and came back in stronger than ever saying his sales had dropped and were continuing to drop. Another merchant remarked lately that after years of advertising he was convinced that his patrons wanted quality instead of something cheap. His first advertisement after that sold a large number of high priced implements that were really high grade and worth possibly more than he quoted although he did not cut the list price. From a little shop on a side street another dealer sold $2,900. worth of goods by means of a half page ad because he had educated the people he dealt with to the fact that his goods were worth all he asked.

Forty Years Ago
The Janesville Daily Gazette, April 30, 1874--Meeting of the Council--The common council last evening by an almost unanimous vote decided that after May 1st the services of the city marshal be dispensed with. There is a great difference of opinion among our citizenship in regard to our marshaling, and last evening a petition was presented to the city fathers asking that body to retain the present marshal. The council by that vote has decided the question for the present and it now remains to be seen whether or not our city ordinance can be maintained without the services of a marshal. The petition presented last evening from the taxpayers of the city is a sufficient guarantee, in our opinion, that Marshal Crotenberg has been an efficient and faithful officer.
An alligator nearly twelve feet in length arrived in town last night, and is to travel with Burr Robbins' hippodrome. His jaws are said to come together like a trap door.
A very serious accident happened at the gas works this forenoon. Mr. John Morrissey fell from the new building and broke his left leg near the ankle joint. Drs. Palmer and Loomis dressed the wound. Dr. Loomis taking a number of pieces of bone, some one inch and a half in length, from the broken limb. This is to Mr. Morrissey a very bad calamity, he being an industrious and hard-working laboring man, and is about 55 years old.
Only twelve applications for licenses to sell liquor were presented at the meeting of the common council last evening.
A two-story frame dwelling belonging to Mr. Henry Russek in the Third ward at Beloit took fire Tuesday noon during the absence of the family and was totally destroyed. The Beloit fire department was promptly on hand, but a high wind and the dry material of the house rendered control of the flames impossible.
